Doug DeCinces

How you would like to have to follow Brooks Robinson at the hot corner for the Baltimore Orioles? That was the job that Doug DeCinces bravely faced in his career.

Doug played in a few games for the Orioles in 1973 & 1974, but was officially still a rookie in 1975 and it was one year later that he began playing fulltime. His best season in Baltimore came in 1978 when he hit 28 home runs to go with 80 RBI and a .286 batting average.

In 1982, he was traded to the California Angels for Dan Ford. In his first season there, he had a career high of 30 home runs and knocked in 97 runs. For this, he was awarded the Silver Slugger Award for 3rd basemen and was 3rd in MVP voting. In his 7 seasons with the Angels, Doug averaged 21 home runs. Doug ended his career with 4 games for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1987.
